

The Introduction:

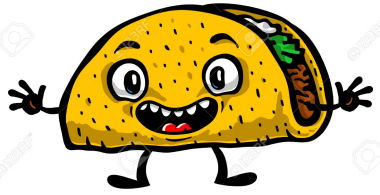

The purpose of an intro is to state what your essay will cover, highlighting each of the body paragraphs.

It also needs to introduce the topic of your essay, utilizing key words from the question. For a literature essay it needs to state the texts title and the creator of the text.

The Introduction:

The secret to a good introduction is:

T.A.K.O

This acronym instructs you to provide this information in the introduction: Title (MUST be underlined), Author, Key words from question, Outline of points/ideas

The Body Paragraph:

The purpose of the body paragraph is to expand on one of the points you brought up in your introduction.

One paragraph = One point.

SEXY Time!

The secret to making a fantastic body paragraph is to make it SEXY.

SEXY

S: Statement – A sentence that writes what the paragraph will be about.

E: Explain – Further explain what the statement means.

X: eXample – Provide an example that backs up your statement.

Y: Your Opinion – The most important part of the paragraph.